DID NOT DIE BUT VANISHED

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 15.—A warrant was issued today by the district attorney charging S. H. Kruger, a San Diego broker, who was supposed to have been lost on the desert, with embezzlement. Mrs. Lillian Mann, a sister in law of Kruger, is the complainant. It is now believed that Kruger is en route to Hawaii. A posse searched several days for him on the desert where he was supposed to have become lost a week ago.

VIRGINIA MINERS INJURED

William Beckwith was seriously injured and Charles McGuigan slightly hurt yesterday in an accident at the Consolidated Imperial shaft at Gold Hill. The men were working in the shaft and were standing on a plank. The plank dropped and knocked the men from under them and they fell fourteen feet to the bottom of the shaft. Beckwith's back was broken and his ankle dislocated. McGuigan was badly bruised and cut.

Alex Wise, the manager, was on the case and saved himself from injury by jumping to the station on the 200-foot level.

LOW WATER IN THE WALKER

William Coleman, who has lately returned from the Walker river section, reports that the water is at the lowest stage he has any recollection of. As Mr. Coleman has been surveying in that district for many years he can form a better idea than the average traveling public, who note the low water conditions.

Mr. Coleman is of the opinion that the Smith Valley and Yerington people will have to carry out their storage systems as planned or cut down the acreage that is demanding water both from old and new rights. Carson News

VILLA'S METHOD FOR ELUDING PURSUERS

(By Associated Press)

JUAREZ, Mex., Aug. 16.—Francisco Villa's method of evading pursuit by Mexican government troops is almost identical with that used by a covey of quail to escape the hunter. Even the detail of protecting coloring has been applied by Villa for his men always wearing brown cotton which blends with the desert landscape and dust clouds through which they travel in campaign.

Thieves know that the quail instinct directs it to scatter when danger approaches, keep cover in the nearby landscape. Villa and his rebel bands do the same thing when a superior federal column approaches and after Villa's band will number 2000 men under his chiefs, Angeles, Lopez Diaz and Garcia. They make a column which coils across the plains like a giant snake and leaves a great dust cloud in its wake. But let General Castro's government troops approach with artillery, machine guns and cavalry mounted on former American army horses and the column will break up into little bands of too under petty officers, will disappear in some mountain canyon and go into hiding until the federal pass. Once the danger of attack is over the column reassembles, occupies some town in its path and again disappears with its loot.

Villa's men have been known to hitch their horses to plows in the fields of the irrigated districts and be industriously plowing when the federal scouts appeared. They have learned various tricks of deception during the course of evading the federal and even drive a herd of barros with them so they may transform themselves into wheelbarrows on occasion. During the Pershing expedition it was claimed by Mexicans that Villa himself stood in Namiquipa disguised as a peon, with a blanket wrapped to his eyes and watching the Pershing column pass through the town in pursuit of him. This has been denied and its source questioned but Villa has played many equally daring tricks on his Mexican military enemies.

SHOE LEATHER GOING HIGHER

That Tonopah buyers of shoe leather are favored more than any other section with offerings of footwear appears from a letter received today by Walter St. Pierre, the bootery man. The letter is from the Hamilton Brown Shoe company, the largest house of the kind in the world. An extract from the letter reads as follows:

"The leather market is in a very deplorable condition at this time. Hides are scarce and very hard to get. We are paying fabulous prices for leather of all kinds. While the prices seem high indeed today, yet within another thirty days we will look back and feel that we bought leather cheap."

In confirmation of this reference may be made to the action of California Retail Shoe Dealers Association which has demanded an investigation of profiteering. Their statement sets forth that shoes selling on the coast for $12 and $15 are selling in England for $28 a pair and in Belgium for $75 a pair. The explanation of the retailers is that Germany has control of the Argentine hide output. England of Australia and Indian leather and Russia and Hungary are kept too busy fighting to produce. The result is a tremendous demand upon American already low output of leather.

The courts have decided that it is lawful to eat wild game if it was raised to sell but wild game that is raised is not as wild as the name would seem to indicate.

No 11 o'clock hunger
after this breakfast

THE MILK
IS ALREADY IN THE FLOUR

When it's 11 o'clock and you don't want to eat a lot of food, then Aunt Jemima breakfast fills you. Better than ever! For these golden-brown, tender cakes "speak" to you when a less satisfying breakfast won't, and you don't get that stare. They go along towards noon.

Just the breakfast for summer, because Aunt Jemima Pancakes are famously easy to prepare, too. All the ingredients come ready mixed in the flour—even the sweet milk (powdered). The simple addition of water makes perfect pancakes. Get a package from your grocer. It makes delicious milk, too.
